

Lynn Johnson

Lynn Johnson lives in downtown New York City and teaches art to high school students. Through the creation of her art, Lynn becomes an observer in her own life and strives to celebrate personal interactions and preserve meaningful memories. The contemplative nature of Lynn's work doesn't scream for attention. Instead it draws the viewer in with a sense of shared understanding and emotion. Her award winning work, in a range of mediums, has been exhibited throughout the country and as far away as Singapore, Venice, Italy and Istanbul, Turkey. Several pieces are now in the hands of private collections.